

Oxford Elementary

In a unique year our school district had to find unique solutions to connect with our community. Our local public librarian Mrs. Metcalf in Oxford is always up for a new challenge. Recently Mr. Metcalf was able to “visit” the second grade classroom at Oxford Elementary to perform a read aloud. Mrs. Metcalf read the book Valensteins by Ethan Long. In the story the main character Fran K. Stein is preparing a Valentine for someone special and his friends just don’t know what to make of it. Mrs. Metcalf used different voices for each of the characters which added a delightful spin to the story. Thank you to Mrs. Metcalf and Oxford Public Library for this opportunity.
